CALL TO WORSHIP

Liturgist

Leader: We come to worship you this morning, O God, on the first day of this new week.

People: It is a week for us to be joyful and adore you.

Leader: You ask us not for sacrifice, but for love. You ask us to be humble and merciful to the hurting ones around us.

People: You call us to be your faithful people, that is, your full of faith people, and to lend our faith to those who need it.

UNISON PRAYER

Liturgist

Let us Pray: Living God, the disciples saw the faith and authority of Jesus first-hand. They saw his compassion upon the heart-broken, the hurting, the hopeless. They saw him bring healing to the sick, the battered, the bruised by life. He sent them out to heal the sick and free those captive to evil. He told them that they were to be lights in the darkness. So, God, as you sent them, so you send us. On any day, at any hour, you may call us to live out our baptism. You will heal us so that our eyes begin to see the invisible people around us and our ears will begin to hear what they may be too afraid or too ashamed to say or the things they feel so deeply that they have no language to describe their needs. Deliver us from our four-fold problems: from not paying attention to the people all around us; from not listening to their hearts; from not hearing your own Holy Spirit telling us how to love them; from our fear and hesitancy, our lack of boldness to risk caring. Set us free from these four realities that we may love others and love you as we should. In Jesus' name. Amen.
